

Dr. Greg Hodges

Current Assistant Director for the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services-Division of Plant Industry.

Has both a B.S. degree in Integrated Pest Management and a M.S. degree in Entomology from Auburn University. Graduated with a Ph.D. in Entomology from the University of Georgia in 2000. Worked as a research scientist focused on insect control for the peach industry for the University of Georgia in 2000.

Joined the Florida Department of Agriculture and Consumer Services-Division of Plant Industry (FDACS-DPI) in 2002 as an entomologist responsible for the identification of scale insects and whiteflies. He served in this capacity for six years before he moved to the role as Chief of the Plant Pest Diagnostics Bureau. After serving in this role for seven years, Dr. Hodges was promoted to the role of Assistant Director in which he has now served two years.